

Job Search Sites for Academic Job Opportunities

(for those with PhD seeking academic, or professional, positions in public health)

These colleges and universities within the greater Milwaukee area, or within the State of Wisconsin, have programs in public health or a related area at the undergraduate or graduate level:

- University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, <https://jobs.uwm.edu/>. Potential positions in the Zilber School of Public Health, the College of Nursing, and potentially the College of Health Sciences.
- University of Wisconsin-Madison, <https://jobs.wisc.edu/>. Potential positions within the Department of Population Health, and College of Nursing.
- University of Wisconsin System (all campuses), https://www.careers.wisconsin.edu/psc/careers/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?FOCUS=Applicant&. Outside of the flagship doctoral institutions, there are potential positions at UW-LaCrosse (undergrad public health program with focus on health education), and perhaps other four-year degree institutions like UW-Eau Claire or UW-Stevens Point.
- Medical College of Wisconsin, <https://www.mcw.edu/Human-Resources/Career-Opportunities.htm>. Potential faculty positions available within the Medical School, the Graduate School's Institute for Health and Society (PhD and MPH programs). Positions may be available in research support as well.
- Marquette University, <https://employment.marquette.edu/postings/search>. Potential position may exist to teach undergraduates within the Department of Biomedical Sciences (supporting public health coursework across the campus, including the School of Dentistry). The first public health faculty member was hired in Spring 2017 to grow public health course offerings for undergraduates with a short-term goal of developing a public health minor in the next 3-5 years.
- Carroll University, <http://www.carrollu.edu/campus/employment/>. Potential positions may exist within their public health program (undergraduate and master's focused on health education), as well as affiliated health programs in Nursing, Physical Therapy, and Physician Assistant studies.

At a national level the following are the key academic job sites but there are others that may be more discipline specific:
